Eugene Casad's posthumous monograph is an in-depth study of the TIME IS SPACE metaphor in Cora, an Uto-Aztecan language spoken in the state of Nayarit, Mexico within the framework of Ronald Langacker's Cognitive Grammar. Overall, Eugene H. Casad has produced a comprehensive account of Cora's unique locative system and its extensions to the temporal domain from a diachronic and synchronic point of view. Given the precarious status of the language, and Casad's long-term commitment to the study and description of Cora, this book will become an invaluable source of reference for linguists interested in Uto-Aztecan languages, typology, and, most of all, cognitive linguistics. 2014. Margaret Ukosakul presents us with a detailed semantic analysis of a set of Thai idioms in her paper "Conceptual Metaphors motivating the use of Thai na," Her analysis is developed along the lines of Lakoff and Johnson (1980) and Lakoff (1987). Each step in the process involves semantic extension of the verb along lines defined by conceptual metonymy. (Human Cognitive Processing 4.) Amsterdam/Philadelphia: John Benjamins Publishing Co.
